

HARVARDKEY

Benefits for Faculty, Staff & Students

Introducing HarvardKey — a new approach to account management that gives you access to your Harvard web-based tools and resources with just one login name and password. Beginning in fall 2015 with a rollout to waves of user populations based on affiliation, key.harvard.edu will include a quick and easy self-claim app for HarvardKey newcomers, a self-service portal for existing users, and an immediately recognizable login screen so you can identify trusted systems that accept HarvardKey credentials.

Unlocks a multitude of resources.

- No need to remember separate passwords for Harvard resources like Canvas, library access, and more — just use HarvardKey

A friendly self-service portal for claiming and managing your account.

- Already have an account elsewhere at Harvard? You're set up to easily claim your HarvardKey
- The HarvardKey self-service portal works on desktop computers, tablets, and mobile devices
- No more impossible-to-remember security questions! Reset your password via the email of your choice
- Modern password standards will keep you secure — with no mandatory periodic password changes for most users

Easy tools for account sponsors and other “people administrators.”

- Sponsors no longer have to deal with assigning passwords to their users — affiliated users can use the self-service portal, too

Supporting the University's Alumni community — seamlessly.

- All alumni receive a HarvardKey — and students and program participants can continue to use their HarvardKey after graduation with an automatic transition to Alumni status
- Alumni who return to the University community as faculty, staff, or sponsored guests can use their Alumni HarvardKey credentials to access what they need for their new roles

One key.
Many gateways.

Learn more at key.harvard.edu

